ATHLETILEARN

Unlocking the Path to Entrepreneurial Success Through Sport-Based Skill Development

Project Meeting

The AthletiLearn partners met in San Sebastián on 14 November to review progress and set priorities for the next phase. The meeting focused on refining the curriculum to include role models and sports organisations and finalising activity templates for the sport course. The day concluded with clear deadlines and a shared commitment to make AthletiLearn a practical and inspiring resource for vocational education.

Budget ball

In Budget Ball, teams start with a fixed "budget" of points and face a simple but strategic challenge: equip their squad for a short scrimmage by purchasing items such as balls, cones and bibs. Before stepping onto the court, each team decides what to buy and explains the thinking behind those choices, are they investing in drills that sharpen shooting efficiency, or in setup that speeds transitions? After a series of quick game rounds, teams review performance and link outcomes back to spending decisions, discussing which purchases delivered the greatest impact and why. The activity turns resource allocation, opportunity cost and return on investment into something you can see and feel on the court, giving students a practical, engaging way to grasp core financial skills.
